Organizers: Department of Foreign Languages and Literature, International Graduate Program of Teaching Chinese as a Second Language, and the English Center of Tunghai University

Sponsors: NSTC, R & D Office, and College of Arts of Tunghai University

Conference Theme:

A second language (L2), in its broad sense, refers to any language a person uses or studies besides the first language (L1). English is the most important L2 in Taiwan's formal education, and Mandarin is the dominant L2 for foreign students. Japanese, Korean, Spanish, French, and German are also common L2s offered in university education, with Vietnamese, Indonesian, and Thai likewise becoming popular in general. An international conference specifically on L2 research and teaching not only facilitates the constructive interaction among teachers and researchers of various L2s but can also create virtuous synergy for all stakeholders. To enhance the quality and influence of the conferences, the organizers will select papers from the oral presentations after the conference and publish a book after double-blind reviews. The convener and co-convener of the program committee will serve as the editors. The conference will be held every two years, with the publication of the edited book in the year following the conference.

Topics of interest:

- Theory of L2 acquisition
- L2 teaching methodologies
- L2 research methodologies
